The course starts along a flat and fairly wide path along the Gunpowder River. This section of the course is likely to be muddy if there is any recent rain. Please do not try going around mud, as this leads to trail erosion.

The course turns up into the woods for some hills, stream crossings, and the occasional fallen tree you can choose to go over or under.

BRRC trail races do not have on-course support. Plan to carry your own fluids as appropriate, and use common sense.
