Baltimore Road Runners Club Scholarship Information

The Baltimore Road Runners Club was founded to promote both recreational and competitive running for people of all ages. The club is run by volunteers who commit their time and energy to promoting the sport in the Baltimore region. Through our programs and races and through the generosity of others, we are proud to present scholarships to qualified high school seniors.

Charlie Reynolds was a club member who embodied the spirit and sport of running. He served as club president, was a competitive runner and was a track and field and cross country coach at Calvert Hall College High School. As a means of honoring Charlie, the Baltimore Road Runners Club (BRRC) established the Charlie Reynolds Scholarship, which offers a one-time scholarship of $3,000 towards college expenses for one male and one female graduating high school senior this year.
